- (b) Disclosure of Accounting Policies: The view presented in the financial statements of an enterprise of its state of affairs and of the profit or loss can be significantly affected by the accounting policies followed in the preparation and presentation of the financial statements.

The accounting policies followed vary from enterprise to enterprise. Disclosure of significant accounting policies followed is necessary if the view presented is to be properly appreciated. The disclosure of some of the accounting policies followed in the preparation and presentation of the financial statements is required by some cases.

The purpose of AS 1 is to promote better understanding of financial statements by establishing through an accounting standard and the disclosure of significant accounting policies and the manner in which such accounting policies are disclosed in the financial statements.

Such disclosure would also facilitate a more meaningful comparison between financial statements of different enterprises.

To ensure proper understanding of financial statements, it is necessary that all significant accounting policies adopted in the preparation and presentation of financial statements should be disclosed. Such disclosure should form part of the financial statements.

It would be helpful to the reader of financial statements if they are all disclosed at one place instead of being scattered over several statements, schedules and notes which form part of financial statements.

Any change in accounting policy, which has a material effect, should be disclosed. The amount by which any item is in the financial statement is affected by such change should also be disclosed to the extent ascertainable. Where such amount is not ascertainable, wholly or in part, the fact should be indicated. If a change is made in the accounting policies, which has not material effect on the financial statements for the current period, which is reasonably expected to have material effect in latter periods, the fact of such change should be appropriately disclosed in the period in which the change is adopted.

- (c) Audit Trail: An audit trail refers to a situation where it is possible to relate 'one-to-one' basis, the original input along with the final output. The work of an auditor would be hardly affected if "Audit Trail" is maintained i.e. if it were still possible to relate, on a 'one-to-one' basis, the original input with the final output. A simplified representation of the documentation in a manually created audit trail.

For example, the particular credit notes may be located by the auditor at any time he may wish to examine them, even months after the balance sheet date. He also has the means, should he so wish, of directly verifying the accuracy of the totals and sub-totals that feature in the control listing, by reference to individual credit notes. He can, of course, check all detailed calculations, casts and postings in the accounting records, at any time.

In first and early second-generation computer systems, such a complete and trail was generally available, no doubt, to management's own healthy skepticism of what the new machine could be relied upon to achieve - an attitude obviously shared by the auditor.

It is once iterated that there is an abundance of documentation upon which the auditor can use his traditional symbols of scrutiny, in the form of colored ticks and rubber stamps. Specifically:

- (i) The output itself is as complete and as detailed as in any manual system.
 - (ii) The trail, from beginning to end, is complete, so that all documents may be identified by located for purposes of vouching, totaling and cross-referencing.
- Any form of audit checking is possible, including depth testing in either direction.

- (a) Examining a Voucher: The essential points to be borne in mind while examining a voucher are-
- (i) that the date of the voucher falls within the accounting period;
 - (ii) that the voucher is made out in the client's name;
 - (iii) that the voucher is duly authorized;
 - (iv) that the voucher comprised all the relevant documents which could be expected to have been received or brought into existence on the transactions having been entered into, i.e. the voucher is complete in all respects; and
 - (v) that the account in which the amount of the voucher is adjusted is the one that would clearly disclose the character of the receipts or payments posted thereto on its inclusion in the final accounts.

- (b) Utilisation of Securities Premium: Section 52 of the Companies Act, 2013 deals with creation of Securities Premium Account for premium received on issues of shares and its application thereon. Section 52(2) lays down that the securities premium account may be applied by the company-

- (i) in paying up unissued shares of the company to be issued to members of the company as fully paid bonus shares;
- (ii) in writing off the preliminary expenses of the company;
- (iii) in writing off the expenses of, or the commission paid or discount allowed on, any issue of shares or debentures of the company;
- (iv) in providing for the premium payable on the redemption of any redeemable preference shares or of any debentures of the company; or
- (v) for the purchase of its own shares or other securities under section 68.

Thus, it is clear from the above that securities premium can be utilized only for specific purposes. Further, section 123 of the Companies Act, 2013 also specifies the sources from which dividends can be paid and requires the same to be only paid out of current/past profits or any other free reserve.

Hence, declaration of dividends out of securities premium is not proper and, consequently, the auditor shall have to qualify the audit report.

- (c) Audit of Stores and Inventories: Audit of the accounts of stores and inventories has been developed as a part of expenditure audit with reference to the duties and responsibilities entrusted to C&AG. Audit is conducted to ascertain whether the Regulations governing purchase, receipt and issue, custody, sale and inventory taking of stores are well devised and properly carried out. The aim is also to bring to the notice of the government any deficiencies in quantities of stores held or any defects in the system of control.

The audit of purchase of stores is conducted in the same manner as audit of expenditure, namely, that these are properly sanctioned, made economical and in accordance with the Rules for purchase laid down by the competent authority. The auditor has to ensure that the prices paid are reasonable and are in agreement with those shown in the contract for the supply of stores, and that the certificates of quality and quantity are furnished by the inspecting and receiving units. Cases of uneconomical purchase of stores and losses attributable to defective or inferior quality of stores are specifically brought by the audit.

Accounts of receipts, issues and balances are checked regarding accuracy, correctness and reasonableness of balances in inventories with particular reference to the specified norms for level of consumption of inventory holding. Any excess or idle inventory is specifically mentioned in the report and periodical verification of inventory is also conducted to ensure their existence. When priced accounts are maintained, the auditor should see that the prices charged are reasonable and have been reviewed from time to time. The valuation of the inventories is seen carefully so that the value accounts tally with the physical accounts and that adjustment of profits or losses due to revaluation, inventory taking or other causes is carried out.

Answer 7:

- (a) Audit Note Book: An audit note book is usually a bound book in which a large variety of matters observed during the course of audit are recorded. Audit note books form part of audit working papers and for each year a fresh audit note book is maintained. In case an auditor classifies his working paper into permanent and current, then audit note book shall form part of the current file. It is in any case a part of the permanent record of the auditor available for reference later on, if required.

The audit note book also provides a valuable help to the auditor in picking up the links of work when the concerned assistant is away or the work is stopped temporarily. It is also used for recording the various queries raised in the course of the work and their state of disposal. In respect of disposed queries, explanation obtained and evidence seen would be recorded in the said book, while queries remaining undisposed off would be noted for follow up.

- (b) Self-Revealing Errors: These are such errors the existence of which becomes apparent in the process of compilation of accounts.

A few illustrations of such errors are given hereunder, showing how they become apparent-

(i)	Omission to post a part of a journal entry to the ledger.	Trial balance is thrown out of agreement.
(ii)	Wrong totaling of the Purchase Register.	Control Account (e.g., the Sundry Creditors Account) balances and the aggregate of the balances in the personal ledger will disagree.
(iii)	A failure of record in the cash book amounts paid into or withdrawn from the bank.	Bank reconciliation statement will show up error.
(iv)	A mistake in recording amount received from X in the account of Y.	Statements of account of parties will reveal mistake.

From the above, it is clear that certain apparent errors balance almost automatically by double entry accounting procedure and by following established practices that lie within the accounting system but not being generally considered to be a part of it, like bank reconciliation or sending monthly statements of account for confirmation.

- (c) Companies Exempted from Reporting under CARO, 2015: The Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2015 applies to every company including a foreign company. However, the Order specifically exempts the following class of companies-

- general meeting in which the approval of members is obtained.
- (iii) Verify also with reference to requisite Form required to be filled with the ROC.
 - (iv) Verify that alteration had been effected in copies of Memorandum Articles, etc.
 - (v) Verify that proper accounting entries have been passed. Register of members may also be checked to see that the necessary alteration have been effected therein.
- (e) Performance Audit: The scope of audit has been extended to cover efficiency, economy and effectiveness audit or performance audit, or full scope audit.
- Efficiency audit looks inot whether the various schemes/projects are executed the their operations conducted economically and whether they are yielding the results expected of them, i.e., the relationship between goods and services produced and resources used to produce them; and examination aimed to find out the extent to which operations are carried out in an economical and efficient manner.
- Economy audit looks into whether the entity has acquired the financial, human and physical resources in an economical manner, and whether the sanctioning and spending authorities have observed economy.
- Effectiveness audit is an appraisal of the performance of programmes, schemes, projects with reference to the overall targeted objectives as well as efficiency of ther means adopted for the attainment of the objectives. Efficiency-cum-performance audit, wherever used, is an objective examination of the financial and operational performance of an organization, programme, authority or function and is oriented towards identifying opportunities for greater economy and effectiveness. The procedure for conducting performance audit covers identification of topic, preliminary study, planning and execution of audit, and reporting. Normally speaking, the performance audit is conducted by the government in respect of various expenditure incurred. while the trend towares a comprehensive approach for conducting performance of full scope audit is visible, ithe coverage and depth of evaluation vary according to the statutory limitatyions, and the organizational constraints of C&AG.
